Part 4. For questions 23–28, read the following article about fairy tales and do the tasks that follow.

Fairies today are the stuff of children's stories, little magical people with wings, often shining with light. Typically pretty and female, like Tinkerbell in Peter Pan, they usually use their magic to do small things and are mostly friendly to humans. We owe many of our modern ideas about fairies to Shakespeare and stories from the 18th and 19th centuries. Although we can see the origins of fairies as far back as the Ancient Greeks, we can see similar creatures in many cultures. The earliest fairy-like creatures can be found in the Greek idea that trees and rivers had spirits called dryads and nymphs. Some people think these creatures were originally the gods of earlier, pagan religions that worshipped nature. They were replaced by the Greek and Roman gods, and then later by the Christian God, and became smaller, less powerful figures as they lost importance.

For questions 23–26, decide whether the following statements agree with the information given in the article. Write TRUE or FALSE in the corresponding numbered boxes provided.

23. Modern fairies are usually described as friendly to people.
24. Our ideas of fairies only come from stories written in the 20th century.
25. Fairies are unique to the Ancient Greeks.
26. The Ancient Greeks believed in spirits called dryads and nymphs that lived in nature.
